

HREC SELF EVALUATION GUIDE

To assist HRECs to assess their function, structure, and culture through advice and a set of tools.

ACCESS TOOL HERE

This guide compliments our HREC Essentials online course, Australia's most comprehensive HREC Training Model.

HREC Essentials is the ideal training solution for anyone new to Research Ethics or those wishing to upskill and increase their knowledge in this unique area of practice.

Undertaking a self evaluation process is highly recommended for all kinds of committees.

However, while the work of HRECs is guided by the National Statement and registered HRECs are required to report on basic aspects of their activities to the NHMRC, there are currently no national guidelines or tools to assist HRECs to review the quality of their function.

PRAXIS Australia Ltd has developed a self evaluation resource to help HRECs assess their performance, and identify their strengths and areas to improve.

Benefits to Your Committee

The Guide is an online tool designed to help HRECs to assess their function, structure, and culture through advice and a set of tools. This will help you assess the performance, and strengths of HREC's and identify areas to improve.

The guide facilitates a structured evaluation and allows HRECs to:

- weigh the benefits and risks of an internal evaluation,
- define it's purpose and scope,
- clarify who is to be involved,
- and the key outcomes. .

The guide can be tailored to your unique HREC to define benchmarks specific to your committee.

Exclusive Offer to 2nd National HREC Conference Attendees

You can access HREC Essentials at 20% off the original price using the code HREC21 when enrolling. This offer is also valid for our other services, including Research Essentials and all of our upcoming Virtual Workshops for 2022.

This offer is exclusive to 2nd National HREC Conference attendees and only valid for enrolments received up until 31st December 2021 so be quick! You can enrol now and complete your course anytime in 2022.

EXPLORE SERVICES